

ECON 403 Strategy Behavior

Course Description:

This course is designed to delve into the intricacies of strategic interactions, equipping students with a robust analytical framework for examining such dynamics. By integrating theoretical insights with a rich array of examples, we aim to impart a structured approach that enables students to capture the distinct characteristics of various scenarios, thereby modeling and forecasting ensuing behaviors effectively. To successfully navigate the complexities of this course, a foundational understanding of microeconomics is indispensable.

Credit: 4

If you can't find the subjects or topics you are interested in, or you want detailed course syllabus, you can contact our Advisor for more information.